

A New ETHICS Department

To all mascara users out there, don't throw away your old mascara brushes or wands when they have become clogged or your mascara is finished!

The Appalachian Wildlife Refuge has found that those little brushes are ideal for grooming their little wildlife patients, helping to clean off fly eggs and larva, nits and fleas. Also making it easier to examine them and treat them for any injuries.

What a great way to reuse them!

We will be collecting them in September and October. . .

Just bring them in. . .

Mrs Jennings will wash and sterilise them before sending.
